Dead Mangled in the Wreckage of Denver and Rio Grande Flyer Which Crashed Into Freight at Remote Point in Colorado.

8 OF THE VICTIMS BEHEADED: THE INJURED NUMBER 50.

Two Relief Trains, With Doctors and Nurses. Rushed to Aid of Victims—One Carrying Injured From the Scene Is Blocked by Cars Thrown Across the Tracks.

DENVER, Jan. 16.—Seventy-one dead, fifty injured, at least thirty of whom will probably die. That is the record of the wreck of Denver and Rio Grande westbound passenger train No. 5, near Dotsero, twenty miles from Glenwood Springs, according to a long distance telephone message from Glenwood Springs to-day.

The smashup occurred at 10.30 o'clock last night when the flyer crashed into freight No. 66, eastbound, on a blind, siding at the point

The passenger train was flying down the grade, making for the siding, five miles west of Dotsero, where it expected to meet the freight, and the freight was also trying to make the siding. The result was a head-on collision in which the engines were smashed, the baggage car of the passenger train left standing on end, one of the day coaches telescoped by the chair car, immediately behind it, and many persons in the day coach and chair car mangled almost beyond recognition.

Those killed were: Gus Olsen, engineer of the passenger train, of Salida, and seventy passengers, whose names are not known.

DEAD WERE MANGLED.

To add to the bad situation one of two relief trains on the way to Menwoo'l loaded with injured was tied up for some time by the derailment of the freight cars. The first relief train bearing a number of more slightly injured reached Glenwood this morning, bringing reports of the wreck. which appears to have been one of the worst in the history of railroading.

Most of the slaughter was done in the chair car. Of sixty-nine passengers in that coach sixty-eight are said to have been killed. The one person to escape was a six-year-old girl, who was found under the dead body of her mother, and who is too near dead even to remember her name. further than that it is "Alice." The dead are in many instances so horribly mutilated that identification will be very difficult.

SOME OF THE INJURED

A partial list of injured follows: John Ross, Cleveland, O.: Thomas Eliott, Pendleton, Ia.; W. Adair, Ravinna, O.; T. B. Miller, Denver; Mrs. G. B. Lanke, Wapolin, Mo.; Charles P. Mance, Mrs. Charles P. Mance, W. M. Barber, Anthony, Kas.; B. H. Hayden and child, Buffalo, Okla.; Fred Jenson, Iowa Falls, Ia.; Mrs. Nellie J. Morton, Standish, Cal.; Mrs. A. W. Mc-Cauley and child, W. C. Moxey, Los Angeles, J. B. Thompson, Bookens. S. Dak.; F. Chandler, Denver; Clyde E. McGown, Pullman conductor; Clarence Vassau, Middleburg, Vt.

Among those who were on the train and escaped were Dr. Charlotte Hall, St. Paul; Emma Stafford, Cleveland; Mary E. Speer, Cleveland; Myrtia Speer, Cleveland; E. L. Roff, Winside, Neb.; Hugh Gregg and family, Har-

The passenger train crashed into the leading engine of the freight rain going across a switch at Dotsero, which is a blind siding, without a station or telegraph office. The chair car was telescoped and the first passenger coach was wrecked. All the sleeping cars remained on the track and none of the passengers in them were injured.

FAST RUN BEFORE SMASH.

The passenger train is said to have been going at a high rate of speed when it reached the siding at Doserto. It is supposed that the engineer of the passenger train thought the freight had passed the siding and was going too rapidly to stop his train when he saw the danger.

The great locomotive attached to the passenger train was demolished and the chair car and passenger coach were turned on their sides and

With the arrival of the relief train from Glenwood Springs it was possible to start the work of rescue of the bodies.

The injured were pinned under the wreckage and the heroic work of the passengers on the Pullman sleepers saved many lives.

Train No. 5, which was wrecked, left Denver yesterday morning. It was well filled with passengers, many of whom were to get off at this point, When the relief train reached the scene it was found that a long string
